

The Elkhorn Advocate.

VOL. 2.

ELKHORN, MAN., THURSDAY, DEC. 28, 1893.

NO. 3

Washakada Indian Homes INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENTS.

CARPENTER SHOP

Buggies, Buckboards, Cutters, Wagons, Carts, made to order and repaired. Window Frames, Door Frames, etc., made to order, and all kinds of repairing of Furniture done on the shortest notice.

CONTRACTS TAKEN FOR THE ERECTION OF BUILDINGS IN TOWN

ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

JOHN SIMINGTON.

Foreman.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP.

FINE BOOTS and SHOES made to order.

AND REPAIRS NEATLY DONE.

STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS WORK. PRICES MODERATE.

(Cripple Boots a specialty.)

As the above work is done by first-class workmen we guarantee you entire satisfaction in all the latest styles.

Before purchasing elsewhere send for price list and directions, how to measure your own foot, and we will be happy to furnish you with full particulars.

N. B. WE KEEP SAMPLES OF MOUNTED POLICE BOOTS
ALWAYS ON HAND.J. R. DUKE,
Foreman

TAILOR SHOP.

Tailoring done in all its branches.

GENTLEMAN'S SUITS made to order.

Over 500 pieces to choose from,

good fit and good Workmanship Guaranteed.

CLOTHES REPAIRED, CLEANED and PRESSED.

Parties bringing their own material can have same made up to order.

JOHN PRESTON
Foreman.

PRINTING OFFICE.

All Kinds of Plain and fancy Job Work neatly and Promptly Executed at Reasonable Prices.

Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Note Heads, Statement Papers, Business Cards, Folders and Wedding Cards, Entertainment Tickets, Programmes, Invitations, Cards, etc.

W. J. THOMPSON,
Foreman.

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE ADVOCATE.

THE ELKHORN ADVOCATE.

Issued every Thursday afternoon from the office of publication, Broadley's Block, Elkhorn, Man.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $1 Per Annum

Published by the Washakada Indian Homes.

W. J. THOMPSON, Editor.

MARRIAGE.

(Communicated.)

Legally in all Protestant countries marriage is regarded as a civil contract only—the conjugal union of one man with one woman. Custom and the romance connected with the interesting event has given it a sacredness which lifts it above a mere agreement. In this country magistrates, equally with clergymen, have a right to perform the ceremony. A mere legal wedding however is regarded with disfavor among the people and a clergyman usually officiates. Marriage has developed from a barbarous union of the sexes to be the most tender, sacred and important relation in human affairs. There is a vast difference between the ride and forcible seizure of a wife, as in former ages, and the romance thrown around the affair in our own time and country. Contrast with the tender romances of the present day, the seizure of the Sabine women by the Romans. When Romulus invited all who would, to settle in his new town (Rome) men came in abundance but no women. He applied to the neighboring communities of Latins and Sabines to obtain wives for his subjects. The request was indignantly rejected. Romulus then invited his neighbors to a feast in honor of the god Neptune, and while the strangers watched the games, the Romans seized their daughters and carried them off.

Next but not least came the carnival,

which owing to the extraordinary fine

weather, the holiday season, and probably

partly to the bad times, was a greater success than any previous one. To describe the gay scenes and to individualize

the galaxy of characters and the variety

of faces is beyond our poor pen, and although the costumes in point of excellency

of get up were perhaps somewhat inferior

to the first carnival given a year ago, yet

the display was amazing and very original.

The most noticeable character to be

seen was the porter at the door, the com-

fat man, who could be seen by the short-

sighted Oxford Dan, with mortar board

hat and gown, without the assistance of

his apparently useless eye glasses and as

much resembled a blown frog as that cor-

pulent porter at the door resembled our

comical friend George. Another Oxford

Don for sometime concealed his identification, but was eventually recognized as

our popular Methodist minister. Several

tramps appeared on the scene as is usual

on these occasions, and one more trimmish

than the rest was labelled with a ticket announcing him as the winner of the third

prize, which made Mr. John Evans' the lucky possessor of a season ticket. Miss

Kate Angus in a very neat and effective

costume representing Eastern Night, was

the winner of the second prize for best

costume. Miss M. McLeod was regarded as the best skater in costume and secured

first prize. The Indian costume appeared

as usual to be the most popular as far as

numbers were concerned. Amongst them

several of the boys and girls from "Our

Indian Homes" appearing in their natural

costumes. Mr. Jno. McLeod in his

soldier's uniform well represented a soldier

while four or five of our citizens with

their plug hats and walking sticks represented the English idle.

In passing we must not omit to mention

the excellent costumes of the children, which certainly well deserves mention, especially Ruby Feilde and Bert Johnson.

"Mamma's big grown up fat baby boy,"

in the person of our friend Ned, while not

exactly belonging to this group, is none

conveniently noticed more than elsewhere.

But as our readers find us particularly

interested in the costumes of the Indians

and we must restrain and wind up by congratulating the costumers on the excellent

character of their costumes, and wish

that they may have received a happy New

Year.

The Elkhorn string band discoursed

sweet music at intervals during the day

from the band stand in the centre of the building, and the Indian Home brass band

gave an exhibition of their mastery over

the big instruments.

The following is a list of the names of those who appeared in costume as far as

our reporter was able to procure:

Miss M. McLeod, Stars and Stripes.

Miss A. McLeod, Evening.

Miss E. Angus, Eastern Night.

Miss E. Smith, Good Luck.

Miss B. Cavanagh, Bride.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

Great Curling Competition—Successful Carnaval—Glorious Weather.

The Christmas of 1893 is a matter of history.

The Elkhorn one, while leaving behind recollections of weariness and fatigue through the skating and epicurean dissipation of the occasion, has also left behind pleasant reminiscences that will long linger in the minds of both seniors and juniors.

Of course all were unanimously agreed that but for the curling and skating rink, the festive season, apart from the turkey fight, would have been a tame affair.

One unusual feature about the occasion however, was the salubrious weather.

The morning's curling match

the interest was not very manifested, and beyond a few fellow curlers who turned out to shout for the Irish, who were beaten

by the Canadians, few put in an appearance.

The former wore green ribbon

and the immortal Shamrock, while the Canadians wore Tam o' Shanter on their heads, and a maple leaf in their button hole.

In the afternoon however, the interest and crowd was greater. About one hundred turned out to see the skating and to yell for the English who were badly beaten by the sons of "broom and heather."

In this contest the Scotch wore Tam o' Shanter and Scotch plaids, while the Englishmen wore plus hats on their heads and had their button holes adorned with the emblematic rose.

But the evening was the climax of the days

proceedings, which was a fine opportunity of working off the dissipation of the num-

rous dinners certain epicures were said to have participated in. First and foremost of course came the play off competition between the Scotch and Canadians for the silver spoon trophy, which every loyal Canadian naturally expected would result in favor of the maple leaf.

Next but not least came the carnival,

which owing to the extraordinary fine

weather, the holiday season, and probably

partly to the bad times, was a greater

success than any previous one. To de-

scribe the gay scenes and to individualize

the galaxy of characters and the variety

of faces is beyond our poor pen, and al-

though the costumes in point of excellency

of get up were perhaps somewhat inferior

to the first carnival given a year ago, yet

the display was amazing and very original.

The most noticeable character to be

seen was the porter at the door, the com-

fat man, who could be seen by the short-

sighted Oxford Dan, with mortar board

hat and gown, without the assistance of

his apparently useless eye glasses and as

much resembled a blown frog as that cor-

pulent porter at the door resembled our

comical friend George. Another Oxford

Don for sometime concealed his identification, but was eventually recognized as

our popular Methodist minister. Several

tramps appeared on the scene as is usual

on these occasions, and one more trimmish

than the rest was labelled with a ticket announcing him as the winner of the third

prize, which made Mr. John Evans' the

lucky possessor of a season ticket. Miss

Kate Angus in a very neat and effective

costume representing Eastern Night, was

the winner of the second prize for best

costume. Miss M. McLeod was regarded as

the best skater in costume and secured

first prize. The Indian costume appeared

as usual to be the most popular as far as

numbers were concerned. Amongst them

several of the boys and girls from "Our

Indian Homes" appearing in their natural

costumes. Mr. Jno. McLeod in his

soldier's uniform well represented a soldier

while four or five of our citizens with

their plug hats and walking sticks repre-

sented the English idle.

In passing we must not omit to mention

the excellent costumes of the children, which certainly well deserves mention,

especially Ruby Feilde and Bert Johnson.

"Mamma's big grown up fat baby boy,"

in the person of our friend Ned, while not

exactly belonging to this group, is none

conveniently noticed more than elsewhere.

But as our readers find us particularly

interested in the costumes of the Indians

and we must restrain and wind up by con-

gratulating the costumers on the excellent

character of their costumes, and wish

that they may have received a happy New

Year.

The Elkhorn string band discoursed

sweet music at intervals during the day

from the band stand in the centre of the

building, and the Indian Home brass band

gave an exhibition of their mastery over

the big instruments.

The following is a list of the names of

those who appeared in costume as far as

our reporter was able to procure:

Miss M. McLeod, Stars and Stripes.

Miss A. McLeod, Evening.

Miss E. Angus, Eastern Night.

Miss E. Smith, Good Luck.

Miss B. Cavanagh, Bride.

Miss K. Martin, Queen of Hearts

Miss Feilde, Santa Claus

Mrs. Carwin, Spanish lady

Mr. John McLeod, soldier

Mr. A. Aspinwall, dude

Mr. D. Cavanagh, Jockey

Mr. W. Simington, Indian Chief

Mr. Gilbert, Highlander

Mr. Jas. McLeod, Duke

Mr. G. Bradley, Oxford Don

Mr. B. Clarke, Duke

Mr. J. Cole, colored gentleman

Mr. J. Brigham, Duke

Rev. Talbot, Graduate

Mr. Ned Burns, Mamma's fat baby boy

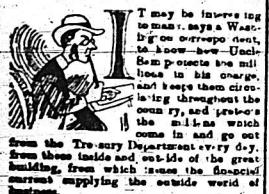

John Evans, tramp

UNCLE SAM'S CASH.

Where It Is Kept and How the Millions are Guarded.

VISITING THE TREASURY.

Armed Men on Guard—The Watchmen's Duties—To Safe the Vault—Counting the Heavy Millions in Gold and Silver.

IT may interest you to know that a Watchman is on duty every hour of the day and night, to whom Uncle Sam entrusts his millions in his charge, and keeps them secure throughout the country, and protects them from the Treasury Department every day, from those inside and outside the great building, from which issues the principal currency of the outside world of commerce.

If you pass up Fifteenth street between 8 and 9 a.m., or between 4 and 5 p.m., you will probably see backed up to the pavement one or two of the wagons of the United States Express Company, enclosing the large sums of money which are handled by the company every day. This company is the only messenger boy of Uncle Sam, and all of the money brought into the Treasury Department is carried in it. When I say money I do not refer to the National Bank notes or the United States Bank notes, which are brought from the treasury and passed along at the rate of over $1,000,000 a day, as these notes do not compare money. The National Bank notes have been signed by the men in the banks for which they are printed, not only in the United States, but also in foreign countries, and this is done at the Treasury Department, so that the real money is all handled by the United States Express Company.

The wagons are large and strongly built and surrounded by

A LARGE IRON-GATE.

The money sent out of the treasury department is carried in strong safes. These are wheeled on a platform in trucks like these used by the police employes. A heavy planking extends from the pavement into the wagon (the iron plate), the safe is tilted from the truck upon the iron plate, a padlock is attached, several men pull, push, and lift, and the safe is in this manner loaded into the wagon. When the leading is complete, unarmed men go ashore, and the iron doors are closed and locked. Other armed men meet the driver, and the wagon is driven down Pennsylvania place. These wagons have the right of way; they never stop or permit themselves to become involved in a jam of vehicles. The people in Washington know the customs, and always give these treasure wagons the right of way, and all the way west.

If you enter the treasury department by any of the entrances, either on the ground or main floor, you will notice a watchman posted at every door. If you enter now at 9 a.m., or 2 P.M., nothing will be said to you, but if you try to enter at 3 P.M., you will be denied admittance, for the department is closed at that hour to visitors. The gates are closed after 5 P.M., and you are met by the watchmen who stand guard at the entrance to the vaults. The watchmen are all armed with rifles, and their rifles are enough to equip the whole force of savages in case of a riot or assault.

Of course something must be done to insure the faithful discharge of the watchman's duties, and leading to this end some very severe penalties are inflicted upon the watchmen. Who patrol the orders built at each entrance to the vaults, that the watchmen are at post, posts. In addition to this, each watchman is required to report his presence every half hour by means of an electric telegraph which connects his report to the main office at the White House, and returns to the telegrapher a signal which informs him that the vault is locked and sealed, so that there will no possibility of a mistake.

During the recent count of the money in the vaults, in addition to the ten clerks detailed as counters, 20 laborers were called to handle the bags of money and carry them to the weighers and return them to their proper places. As soon as one vault is finished the vault is locked and sealed, so that there will be no possibility of a mistake.

In addition to these men here of keeping over the watchmen, the captain of the watch is liable to put in an appearance at any time, and he is to the head of the watchmen what the master is to the head of the soldiers.

Most of the watchmen are young maid-servants, who learned their first lesson in obedience at a strict school. Outside the treasury other watchmen are on duty during the entire night, so that every man who was on the job for a long time will find every use of approach thoroughly guarded.

IF YOU ARE OF A BRIDAL TOUR.

You will want to go down to the vaults where the vast amount of silver is stored, but before there is much trouble, but because there is to be a regular thing to do. The average number of visitors on a month is 1,000, you must obtain permission from the Treasury Department, the State, Mr. Daniel H. Morgan, who is in charge of the vaults, and you are assured that the vaults are secured by the most perfect system.

The Title of Slave.

Emir is not properly a slave, but a descriptive word. Correctly it is applied only to descendants of the prophet, all of whom are styled Emir, just as the title honorable is applied to the people of a certain race by birth in England. Emira, however, is applied to the people of Parthia and Armenia, and Arabic people of "the realm," as well as to the people of Persia.

Every one who can prove his descent from the prophet is entitled to wear green in some portion of his costume, the turban being usually chosen for this sign of rank.

The claim to the title is considered far more satisfactory where traced back through the female ancestry.

His Time Wasted.

"I'm sorry Charley got knocked out in the song last night."

"Yes; he has a tendency to put him in the rear again."

"That's the worst of it. He's been reading the part of Hamlet for two years—and now he can't go on the stage."

Mr. Kitty Huddleston-Coye, her mother, Mrs. Huddleston, and husband, Chase Coye, who were on trial for infanticide at Pittsfield, have been acquitted. The case caused a considerable amount of the world's credulity being imposed upon.

There is an inch of snow at Barrie.

gathered, and which securely holds the millions within.

But even through this steel lattice work you cannot see the white metal which is stored away. All that can be seen is a long row of wooden boxes which are piled up one upon the other, from the floor of the vault to the ceiling. All around the walls and along the central corridor of the vault these boxes are two tiers deep and form a large room, either side of the central aisle of the vault. Inside these two rooms formed by the rows of boxes the silver is

STORED AWAY IN BAGS,

$10,000 in a bag, the weight of which is sixty pounds; the boxes each hold twenty bags, each bag weighing 100 pounds, making 1,000 pounds of silver.

If some kind friend would call and the watchman always on duty behind his closed door, and give you a complete account of burglar's tools and tell you to repeat yourself, you would have to tell your way across the floor of the vault from the entrance to the exit, and then cut your way through an immense steel door six inches thick and weighing over six tons, and then cut through a double thickness of wall surrounding the bank of silver. What would take you to perform, and the time you would be able to carry away over two bags of silver, or 120 pounds, as the trouble would hardly pay for the labor, for it would not be for a cent by any means.

Now let us look at all the silver that Uncle Sam has in his safe. At the right of the door of the silver vault is the door of another vault in which some of the gold and silver are stored. In this vault are kept the dimes, quarters and half-dollars. Forty-eight millions are kept in this vault, while in the department of the mint the balance of the currency is stored all the Government bonds deposited by the national banks, as a security for their circulation, and in other vaults are kept the United States treasury notes. In another is the supply of money for the daily business of the United States in the form of bills of exchange, and in the vault of the cash room, which acts as a feeder not only in the banks of Washington, but in the banks of the United States at large.

With the secretary of the treasury is in a position to consider the representative of the Government's financial matters, still the treasurer of the United States is directed by Uncle Sam's gold and silver.

THE PRESENT TREASURER.

Mr. D. N. Morgan, is one of the most popular officials in the Government's service, and heads of clerks holding subordinate positions can draw from him valuable lessons in the art of administration. In personal appearance Mr. Morgan reminds you of the bright lawyer or orator. His dress is neat and modest, his address is polite, but not parading, his eyes are bright, square-shouldered, hair just a little thin, with gray, eyes are bright with a smile, and he is a man you might be pleased to have by your side. The manner of performing one's devotion by pronouncing a prayer was not unfamiliar to him, and he has a decided fondness for the study of law.

When the Democratic party came in 1860, a careful count of all the money in the vaults showed that there was $100,000,000.

When the Republicans came in 1865, a careful count of all the money in the vaults showed that there was $100,000,000.

At present the vaults contain $100,000,000.

Of course every one has seen estimates of the length of time would be occupied in counting a million.

The query is probably contained in nearly all of the arithmetic and books of puzzle now in existence, but more rapidly than could be naturally expected, although it usually takes ten experts nearly three months to find out how many dollars and cents Uncle Sam has on hand.

UNCLE SAM'S MILLIONS ARE COUNTED.

Of course, each silver dollar is not silver, neither is each gold piece. A bag of silver contains 1,000 silver dollars and should weigh 60 pounds, with the weight of the bag of silver, plus the weight of the coins, and if up to weight, it should be counted as $1,000, but if the silver does not weigh as much as the weight of circulation, then the weight of all the coins must be deducted.

Of course every one has seen estimates of the length of time would be occupied in counting a million.

The query is probably contained in nearly all of the arithmetic and books of puzzle now in existence, but

THE PARAGUAYAN DINNER.

The Queer Food and Queer Customs of Paraguay.

Again Peppered Rio.

It Was Too Suggestive.

Scalp Notes for January.

Five Canadian Murders to be Avenged in That Month.

Seven Murder Trials Yet.

On Jan. 15 a boy named Walter Hill is to be hanged at Brandon, Man., and Joseph Leblanc is to meet the same fate at Winnipeg, Man., on the same day.

Also on Jan. 15 E. J. Graves, a young farmer, was victimized in a fatal shooting. A foul play was suspected, and Dr. Young, of Virden, held a post-mortem, which disclosed poisoning by strichlorine. Hill was the only occupant of the cabin with Graves for some time. His story was discredited that he had intended to bombard the city after his early arrival.

Admiral P. R. Sturges, who recently joined the insurgents, confirmed the telegram of last night that the British Ambassador is to be dismissed to wait until the end of the revolution and that he will be a photoplay on the question of a monarchy.

The insurgents are confident of success;

they have a vice-regal page in the province of Rio Grande do Sul and are making preparations for the performance.

President P. R. Sturges is preparing for a subversive defense of Rio de Janeiro, and states that he intends fighting to the last, and that when his ships arrive he expects victory.

But Brazil is suffering severely and every branch of agriculture. The financial position of the Government is bad, the treasury is exhausted, and the fact that Paraguay has been declared in a state of siege above the spread of the movement.

The Javary, the rebel vessel sunk by Paraguayan guns, was an iron armored torrent of 2,700 tons; she carried four 10 inch Whitworth guns, two 6-inch guns, six 6-inch rapid-fire guns and five 12-pounder guns.

The Javary had 2,200 horse power and had 12 inches of armor. She was a powerful vessel of light draught and suitable for coast defense or river service. She was purchased in France in 1875. All her crew perished.

It is the first time," said one lady, "who was not afraid to speak on her indignation, "that the Vice-regal page has been refused, and if I had my way, we would refuse the performance as 'not under the protection of His Excellency.'

"It's too bad," said another lady, "after our having carefully revised all the impropriety we could out of that third act."

I might suggest that if Lord and Lady Aberdeen are anxious, as may be judged from this somewhat indiscreet action of poor Mr. Mirando, pickle merchant, of Spitalfields, who has just died from over indulgence in laughter. He was at a public house in Clerkenwell, and somebody had a funny speech which tickled his fancy. He accordingly "laughed very heartily," was seized with a fit of coughing and fell down. In falling he struck his head against a form, but this was not the cause of his death. The doctor certified that he died from a fit of coughing, and the coroner inquest found that he died from a fit of laughing, for which the publican, a fat gulfaw, was responsible.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.

He was a fat, jolly, good-natured fellow, for whom the publicans and the publicans' wives had a great fondness.</

LAUGH AND LEARN.

Greece has 27,000 sailors.
Japan will build 14 railways.
London has 60,000 telephones.
A submarine gas stove is now.
Kansa City anticipates $1 gas.
Calcutta has a make laboratory.
Beads lead the world in horses.
A black fox's skin is worth $1,000.
Indians make blankets from back.
Chicago reports 2,000 saloon failures.
Princess May has a gold mines trap.
California wine gain favor in Europe.
Ireland has 2,500,000 acres of bog land.
American has cost $300,000,000 a year.
Germany has a railway, dating from 1833.
London theatres employ 15,000 persons.
Great Britain makes 900,000 pianos a year.
Californians object to Japanese immigration.
Belgium has 150,000 saloons and 5,000 schools.
Liberia yearly exports 1,000,000 pounds of coffee.
The Chicago-New York telephone covers 950 miles.
Germany sends the States 100,000 canary birds a month.
The sanding man's business is best when he goes on a strike.
The sculptor is generally fishing for fame when he makes a cast.
Great Britain's capital in U. S. railway amounts to $500,000,000.
The unicycle is expected by an inventor to go a mile in 20 seconds.
A Scotch farmer has arranged to do all his work by an electric motor.
The army worm has cost the State more than the Revolutionary war.
The popular pianist finds little difficulty in realizing on his notes of hand.
No, Charles August, we have never heard that yeast would rule side whiskers.
There is enough iron in the blood of 48 men to make a 22-pound ploughshare.
No man is any good as he demands the young man shall be who sits for his daughter.
Alumalium is to be used on the sanguineous parts of the German army to decrease the weight.
"I am going," says the old lady, "to the opera. I want to hear the new American Balladeer."

Professor A.—Whom do you regard as the greatest linguist of the age? Professor B.—Mrs. B.

A speck of gold, weighing the millionth part of a grain, may easily be seen by the naked eye.

It is estimated that last year 1,285,000,000 hats were consumed in the United States alone.

Thinner than news paper are sheets of iron that run 4,300 to an inch, recently rolled in Wales.

Since 1840, the world's production of meat has increased 57 per cent, that of grain 42 per cent.

A new invention is an attachment for a horse's bridle, by means of which the animal may carry a lamp on its head.

An English woman has employed 25 of her leisure hours—1885—is making a copy of an old piece of Byzantine tapestry.

In the production of glass jewels Hungary leads the world. The work is done almost entirely by hand.

"Always speak well of your neighbor." "I always do, although I can assure you she is the meanest woman in creation."

Jack—I declare! If Mrs. Fisher isn't getting gray. Jess—No wonder, poor thing; she has had so much trouble to conceal her age.

First Blitzy—Did dat awat I give ye in the jaw hurt? Second Blitzy—What awat? First B.—Dat awat. Second B.—Dat's what?

The Actor—I say, John, what is the difference between a bill board and a board house? John—Well—Well, you can't jump the bill board.

Bet It Didn't Work.—Wife—John, it was 1 when you came into the house last night. Husband—And you were the one I came home to see, darling.

He, at the play, in response to some bit of surprising news—Yours take my breath away. Sue—So glad! You won't need a clew at the end of the act.

Kasper says that of clergymen, 42 per cent reach 70 years; 40 per cent merchants, 33; teachers, 23; physicians, 22; lawyers, 25; teachers, 23; physicians, 22.

There is a fireproof covering for walls, composed of asbestos sheets, softened by steaming, embossed by rollers and dried and painted or otherwise decorated.

She—Oh, yes, I quite believe there's a feel in every family. Don't you?—Well—or my opinion's rather biased. You see I'm the only member of our family.

Directors of physical culture say that heavy dumbbells do more harm than good, as they strain the heart and lungs, as well as the muscles they are supposed to benefit.

"It's a very hairy little family, isn't it?" "Oh, don't say that. He's a husband in fact of his wife, and her parents are jealous of her baby, and the baby cries for its father all the time."

Blibbles—Did you ever know Hobbs was a Mokka of have many Sists? You're joking. Blibbles—No, I'm not. He used to give out the return checks to the thrifty crowd at a theatre door.

Mammie Johnny, so that you give Ethel the lion's share of that orange, Johnny?—Yes—Ethel—Mammie, I have given many oranges. Johnny—Well, that's all right; I have don't eat oranges.

Applause—Then the employees of this department don't have to pass the Civil Service examination? Government official—No, indeed. We require bright, active, intelligent men for our work.

The most noted shot among English women is Lady Eva Quaile, wife of Captain Wyndham, a naval officer, and a member of the Danish Royal Family. She has killed a full-grown deer with the fall shot of a howdah.

It is not exactly nice for girls to kiss one another, on the streets, or in public places. Valiant women and girls who don't know any better do exchange caresses in public, but gentlewomen and well-bred girls are circumstanced.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The impulsive youth now dines upon the delicious delicacy yolked fish balls, and indulges in gorgeous neckties and mixed drinks, for verily the time approaches when he must forsake his mother and his Christian gifts for one day's malediction.

"What do you call that there things you ride up here on?" asked the farmer man of the youth who had stopped to get a drink of water at the well. "It is a bicyclette." "Seems to me," said the old man, "that I'd rather have a whalebone. What's in barrels's something you've got down in the rear when you get tired of pushing the thing?"

PROGRESS IN ONE LIFETIME.

How They Travelled and What They Were Sixty Years Ago.

When I compare the past with the present, it makes my head reel when certain people make such changes that have taken place in my recollection. Electric cars will soon be running through my native township impelled by a universal, but unseen power. People, too, converse with each other while in motion, instead of through the agency of some medium through which is accomplished through the thinking capacity and the capability of the insect, man. How bewildering it is to step over, or leave out, sixty or seventy years of one's lifetime from boyhood to old age.

"Jess" is in a highly dramatic account of a fight for life with an ostrich, and it is historically correct. In fighting they are apt to break their own legs, they give such desperate blows. Indeed, it would seem if all the vital organs of the greatest bird were contained in its legs, and these legs, which are graceful only when going across their native grass-covered plains with a rapidity of motion that must be seen to be appreciated.

I am only rehearsing a few of the peculiarities of the creatures which have made it a task to remember the days of Job.

"Which leaveth her eggs in the earth and warmeth them in the dust." It would appear to be an evidence of cunning rather than stupidity for Mrs. Ostich to adopt this very simple method of incubation.

However, it has its disadvantages, as the ostrich is very gullible and has a strong desire to get a good dinner, especially the white-necked crow, spies the unguarded nests.

He knows he cannot break one of those mammal eggs and devises a shrewd plan to help him. Taking a stone in his hand he flies over the spot, causing a small crater and a hole to form in the ground, and drops the stones. Punkt! An egg is broken and he descends to his feast. This is said to be the same kind of a raven that fed the prophet Elijah.

It is said that the eye of an ostrich is like the eye of the lion and the Hottentot often takes the time to shoot the ostrich and then cut off its eye to fight until they see the bird.

The ostrich is a generous layer. Sixty eggs will be found in and around a single nest. One of these eggs is equal to twenty-four hen's eggs.

Next the flocks were made to shear, and seated in a pool to rest, the bird, and when ready for removal, it was spread-out on stage.

It was covered with pollen, and then carefully fastened, and finally dried.

Weel, and flax were grown, spun and woven at home, and were woven into fabrics.

Since 1840, the world's production of grain has increased 57 per cent, that of grain 42 per cent.

A new invention is an attachment for a horse's bridle, by means of which the animal may carry a lamp on its head.

Alumalium is to be used on the sanguineous parts of the German army to decrease the weight.

"I am going," says the old lady, "to the opera. I want to hear the new American Balladeer."

Professor A.—Whom do you regard as the greatest linguist of the age? Professor B.—Mrs. B.

A speck of gold, weighing the millionth part of a grain, may easily be seen by the naked eye.

It is estimated that last year 1,285,000,000 hats were consumed in the United States alone.

Thinner than news paper are sheets of iron that run 4,300 to an inch, recently rolled in Wales.

Since 1840, the world's production of meat has increased 57 per cent, that of grain 42 per cent.

A new invention is an attachment for a horse's bridle, by means of which the animal may carry a lamp on its head.

An English woman has employed 25 of her leisure hours—1885—is making a copy of an old piece of Byzantine tapestry.

In the production of glass jewels Hungary leads the world. The work is done almost entirely by hand.

"Always speak well of your neighbor." "I always do, although I can assure you she is the meanest woman in creation."

Jack—I declare! If Mrs. Fisher isn't getting gray. Jess—No wonder, poor thing; she has had so much trouble to conceal her age.

First Blitzy—Did dat awat I give ye in the jaw hurt? Second Blitzy—What awat? First B.—Dat awat. Second B.—Dat's what?

The Actor—I say, John, what is the difference between a bill board and a board house? John—Well—Well, you can't jump the bill board.

Bet It Didn't Work.—Wife—John, it was 1 when you came into the house last night. Husband—And you were the one I came home to see, darling.

He, at the play, in response to some bit of surprising news—Yours take my breath away. Sue—So glad! You won't need a clew at the end of the act.

Kasper says that of clergymen, 42 per cent reach 70 years; 40 per cent merchants, 33; teachers, 23; physicians, 22; lawyers, 25; teachers, 23; physicians, 22.

There is a fireproof covering for walls, composed of asbestos sheets, softened by steaming, embossed by rollers and dried and painted or otherwise decorated.

She—Oh, yes, I quite believe there's a feel in every family. Don't you?—Well—or my opinion's rather biased. You see I'm the only member of our family.

Directors of physical culture say that heavy dumbbells do more harm than good, as they strain the heart and lungs, as well as the muscles they are supposed to benefit.

"It's a very hairy little family, isn't it?" "Oh, don't say that. He's a husband in fact of his wife, and her parents are jealous of her baby, and the baby cries for its father all the time."

Blibbles—Did you ever know Hobbs was a Mokka of have many Sists? You're joking. Blibbles—No, I'm not. He used to give out the return checks to the thrifty crowd at a theatre door.

Mammie Johnny, so that you give Ethel the lion's share of that orange, Johnny?—Yes—Ethel—Mammie, I have given many oranges. Johnny—Well, that's all right; I have don't eat oranges.

Applause—Then the employees of this department don't have to pass the Civil Service examination? Government official—No, indeed. We require bright, active, intelligent men for our work.

The most noted shot among English women is Lady Eva Quaile, wife of Captain Wyndham, a naval officer, and a member of the Danish Royal Family. She has killed a full-grown deer with the fall shot of a howdah.

It is not exactly nice for girls to kiss one another, on the streets, or in public places.

Valiant women and girls who don't know any better do exchange caresses in public, but gentlewomen and well-bred girls are circumstanced.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

The Empress of Russia is very fond of the Danish blintz or rye bread, and has a special for the softening. During Her Majesty's visit to Denmark the empress had bread every day, and when in Russia a loaf is sent to Russia every fifth day.

The Tenant of the Second Flat (nearly)—I think you noticed the landlord that none of your family played the piano? The Tenant of the Third Flat—They don't play the piano. Why, they're all only beginning to learn now.

Wearin' for You.
Jes' wearin' for you;
All the time you're a-lookin';
Wishin' for you to wonder—when
You'll be comin' home agen.
I don't know what to do—
Jes' a-wearin' for you!

Little Girl.
Come the wind, with soft caress,
Like the rustle of your dress;
Eddy, like your footstep sound;
You'd like your eyes as blue—
Jes' a-wearin' for you!

Mornin' come;
The birds awake;
Up so early, like the sun;—
Hear them singin' in the notes
That comes thrullin' thru th-throats
Jes' a-wearin' for you!

Evenin' come;
I miss you more
When the dark's comin' in the door;
Seems like you order be
I'm comin' to you, little methought
Sots me wearin' for you!

Frank L. Stanton, in Illinois Constitution.

Where have they gone to?—the little girls,
With natural manner and natural curl?
And talk of something bodies the boys?

Little old women in plenty find,
Mature in manners and in mind,
Little old girls who talk of their "beans" and Die with each other in stylish clothes.

Once in the beautiful long ago,
When the world was young and new;
Girls who were never at play,
And laughed and rollicked the livelong day.

They thought not at all of the "style" of their clothes.
They thought nanght that boys were "beans";
"Other girls' brothers" and "mates" were they;
Splendid cloths to help them play.

"There we give them gone to?—you're
Over there, I see, and there she goes;
We give a nod of purest god
To one of these dear little girls of old."

Who knows not the meaning of "style" or "style."

JULIA'S PROPOSAL.

THERE was a sewing circle and association in the little Baptist Church in Stony Brook. The sewing circle had begun early in the afternoon, the elder women had come with their best white aprons trimmed with knitted lace, and their modest bows and thumbtacks in their pockets. They had gathered around the great wood stove in the vestry. It was a cold day. They sipped until dusk, then they lit the lamps, warmed the tea and coffee, which had been brought ready-made in great cans, and stored the buttery biscuits, the cold meat and the gaudy pies. The young people began to sing.

The young girls, with their carefully frizz'd tails of raven hair, and their shining braids at the back, gathered around the stove; the young men stood close. The man who was Julia's Peck when she entered, and he walked through them calmly, looking neither to the right nor left, and grinning none of them. Greeted young men in the aggregate at a sociable was not in the social odds of the girls of Stony Brook. She was a healthy girl, with a healthy broad smile on her face. She wore her best black cambric dress with rows of velvet ribbons over the bust, her mother's best brooch, which was black, with a beautiful little bunch of pearl grapes upon it, now and then, which created a shadowed effect.

There was certain importance about her entrance. The young girls all stared around her and whispered and several women in flaring white aprons spoke to her and asked where her mother was. Julia replied with dignity that her mother had a cold and had not thought it prudent to come.

"I suppose you're all prepared," said one woman whose this, crimped hair was trained carefully over thin, flushed cheek. She had a pile of plates under her arm. The plates were thin and made of mud.

"Goin' to speak to-night?" asked one of the girls after a little.

"Yes," said Julia.
"Don't you dread it?" asked another.
"Not a mite."

"I don't see how you do it."

The girls all sat down. Julia stood on the side, but she did not seem to realize it. Her dark brown hair curled naturally, and she had brushed it back, wrinkling from her fresh-colored face with its rounding profile, and had tied it in a bunch at the back. She warmed her hands over the fire, and then she sat down, not talking to any more. Since she was reality, although near their spines, a companion of theirs. She was an only child. She had lived alone with her parents, had never been to school nor associated with girls of her own age. The result was that she was a very simple, broad, and coarse girl, who had not steady nerves, system for that—but a demeanor like that of a woman of fifty. She fell years away from the other girls, and she was felt.

As she sat waiting she looked calmly over at the group of young men at the door. Mrs. Williams had come in, and she saw his shiny black coat above the others. He was quite tall, and his shoulders squared boyishly in his best coat. She looked steadily at him, and presently he turned his eyes toward her. He did not speak, nor did she, but could see a wave of red color on his long throat and his smooth face. Julia was embarrassed.

When they gathered around the supper-table amid an embarrassed hush Julia found herself away from the other young people, next the minister. When the blossoms had been taken by the minister, tawing over her, she looked around to see where Frank Peck was. He was not in the room between two young girls at the lower end of the table. Julia sat back and ate a hearty supper. After supper, when the table was cleared away, the entertainment began. There was playing on the parlor organ and singing and dancing, and the girls were all in the room.

"They will all be a minstrel show," said Miss Julia Peck, announced the minister, and Julia arose and went unfinishingly in herreaking shoes to the platform. Took her position, bowed, and lifted up her voice. Her voice was heavy and low-pitched, and she spoke with a solemn intonation; now and again she uttered a short, sharp note, the note a long pause, descriptive of heretic dead and tragic death; people had their hands clasped to their faces. When she finished and stepped down from the platform there was a murmur of admiration all over the vestry—“Beautiful!” the women whispered to one another and nodded.

“There was much applause, and the audience enthusiasm grew stronger.

Julia Peck's speaking was held in great repute in Stony Brook. It was quite generally believed that very few of the people who go round the country speaking at meetings, or lecturing, had half as much to say as she. Women had talked to Julia's mother about it, but Mr. Peck had shaken her head. “There ain't any need of Julia's doing any such thing,” said she, with dignity. “I’m willin’ she should speak to the public, but she’s the docther now, and I ain’t thinkin’ she’s got enough ground to stand on in public. It ain’t a woman’s place, an’ Julia’s got enough—the docther needn’t.”

Julia Peck was considered quite an heiress. There had been two widows on her father's side who had been left widows for both him by a judicious combination of Julia and Frank, and had inherited their money. She had quite a little and in a saving bank, and she owned a house in a neighboring village.

The society ended about 10 o'clock—

that had been a little social time after the entertainment—then people began to go home.

Little Girl.

Julia plumed her mother's plain long shawl firmly and comfortably over her shoulders and tied on her blue hood. The young girls stood behind the older ones. Now and then, when the girls got up, a young man left the group softly and simply followed her. When Julia Peck appeared Frank Williams strayed back; several of the young men tried to push him forward, laughing, but he stood his ground. Julia paused in the doorway, looking down at him, and then said, “Waitin’.” Then, smiling at the young man, said, “I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“What is it?” asked Frank Williams.

“I don’t know. The entertainment was pretty long.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“Did anybody ask after me?”

“What did you tell ‘em?”

“I told ‘em you had a cold and didn’t think you could speak to the public.”

“Julia, you’re comin’ to me because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

“I’m comin’ to you because I wanted to ask you something.”

THE ELKHORN ADVOCATE

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1888

LOCAL NEWS.

After Sunday next do not forget

the 1891

The Elkhorn people will be relived on the 1st of January, 1891.

ARTICLES

and popular stories about

the Church, the

new year's events,

etc., etc.

Mr. E. B. Ford returned to Brandon

yesterday morning, except as in symptoms rendered it necessary.

The following is all that Mr. F. M.

had to say to Mr. Fleming together with what he said to Mr. T.

W. of last week.

One of our "Nobles" who has been here continues to do well and strong, and is in a condition of great improvement.

We have received the first number of the Broadway Sentinel. It is a very interesting paper, edited by Mr. W. H. Bradford.

The Elkhorn

church is in full

Festivities Hall on

Holiday Xmas.

Mr. Goodfellow was in

Tuesday night, and again on Wednesday night, but had much to do, so did not have time to go to the Wesleyan.

Mr. J. R. McNaughton, the columns of the Elkhorn Advocate and the self-same day, also

Armenian, also for publication. We will publish

them as soon as we can.

The Elkhorn Advocate is now published from the Industrial Department of the Washakiki Indian Home. It is neatly printed and replete with interesting news

of the locality in which it is published—

Vancouver Tribune.

We welcome among our readers

this week the Elkhorn Advocate. The Advocate ceased publication for some months but has again made its appearance.

We are sure that under the able management of Mr. W. J. Thompson the succes of it is assured.—Fort William

Evening Star.

During the last blizzard some unfortunate citizen was made the poorer by the loss of a tablecloth. Whether the wind blew it off the table or out of the hands of some impudent who was shading it, is not yet determined, but it landed in Mr. Broadley's yard where it fell because it was obtained by the owner.

The Union Sunday School Christmas

entertainment held on Saturday evening the 23rd, was a decided success. The chair was occupied by Mr. Joe Broadley.

After an excellent program by the children of the school, Santa Claus arrived and proceeded to liven up the hearts of the young folks by a very liberal distribution of presents.

The first number of the revived Elkhorn

Advocate was issued last week

It is a neatly printed eight page, six column folio, well filled with local and general news. Mr. W. J.

formerly of the Cudworth's is editor

and manager, and will devote his best efforts to becoming the pleasant gateway

town and surrounding district—Virden

Chronicle.

The Washakiki Indian Home carpenter shop is getting some free advertising in Whitewood owing to the fact that the seats for the Agricultural Hall were made here. The Directors have been severely censured for having the work done outside the town, but have replied that they would not have done so had it been possible to secure as good workmanship at the same price. This speaks volumes for foreman Simington

and his staff.

Farmer's Institute, Dennis No. 2, held a meeting in the Foresters' Hall, on Saturday the 23d, and which was addressed

by Secretary Bradford, C. Freeman and

Gen. Allison. These three gentlemen all gave some practical pointers to farmers. The meeting was well attended and much interest manifested. A vote of thanks was tendered the speakers at the close. It was moved by L. Jones and seconded by W. Bailey that a petition be prepared to present to the Government to compel the C. P. R. engine to carry efficient spark arresters. The first meeting of the Institute will be held on the Saturday in January, when Dr. A. Mc-

Gilliland, V. S., will give an address on expenses. This is a good showing for a year like the present but it is needless to say that this farmer did not market his eggs in one month. He sold one beef, potato, turnip, etc., which were make more than $100.

An amusing incident occurred on Christmas Eve at the skating rink. One of the skaters

had a broken leg.

Claimant and I protest

but without avail, when subsequently he relinquished his claim upon No

and went off with the better ones.

The St. Mark's Church Sunday School

Xmas entertainment, held last Friday night, was a very enjoyable affair. The former part of the evening was spent in the singing of hymns.

The service of the Rev. Mr. T. Hamilton was excellent.

Deafening societies have been started at

Arrow River and Saville schools.

These will help to pass away the long winter evening pleasantly and profitably.

Practical lessons are the only ones that make a man successful as an orator.

McLeod school is closed for the winter months, the attendance being too small to warrant keeping it open.

All the excitement of the election is now over and the returns are in.

D. Gerard elected Reeve; W. Lynch and I.

M. Lyon Councillors in Ward 1; W. B.

Rowan and John Clarke Councillors in

Ward 2; H. Turner and T. Hamilton in

Ward 3; M. T. B. Gurney was just beaten

for the Mayoralty by 8 votes.

Rev. Mr. Bennett, B. A., preached in the Methodist church on Sunday evening.

Mr. F. Scarth has disposed of his travelling-mate, Lilly S., to party in Brandon.

Mr. H. Green of Pinestone is visiting friends here this week.

Mr. H. Lang, editor of the Moose Jaw

Times, spent Monday in town.

Mr. J. H. Agnew has removed his office to Cal's Block on 7th Avenue.

Mr. C. A. McGough, M. L. A., spent

Monday in town.

After Jan 1st, 1891, the stores in Virden

will close at 7 o'clock.

Mr. J. B. Bond visited friends in the country for a few days this week.

The citizens of Virden are lamenting

the want of a deer hunt.

At the election in Virden on Tuesday

Dec. 10th, the following Councillors

were elected: B. Foster, J. McNaughton, J.

J. Caulfield, W. F. Carefoot, O. H. Healey:

W. J. Kennedy, M. C. Jr.

Mr. T. Lynden of the Whipped Cream

Commercial gave us a friendly call last evening.

Mr. Frank Thomas left for Carberry on Saturday morning last to spend a few weeks.

Mr. Broyle, of Qu'Appelle, father of Mr. F. Travis, was in town on Christmas day.

Miss Jeffery, who has been teaching at Langvalley, has returned home for her holidays.

Mr. Denny Cavanagh and Miss B.

Cavanagh are spending their holidays at home.

Miss McLaughlin, of Moosewood, sister of R. A. McLaughlin, V. S., spent a day last in town.

We are pleased to see our old friend

Mr. T. Donaldson in town during Xmas week reliving old acquaintances.

Mr. Cecil Bolston, 2nd Miss Grade

Teacher, has returned from Winnipeg and are spending their holidays at home.

Mr. W. Gould who lives south of Elkhorn, leaves to-morrow morning for Brandon Hospital to receive treatment for a badly frozen foot.

Mr. George Broderick is spending a few days in town. He is quite delighted at once more having an opportunity of falling down on the ice at the skating rink.

Miss Hartill left for Virden on Tuesday morning express, where she intends to spend the remainder of her holidays.

Mr. Hartill, V. S., will give an address on the subject of the

Elkhorn Advocate.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V. S.,

is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Hartill, V.